To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to recommend Ron as a great candidate for the BI Developer position at your company. Throughout our collaboration, Ron has demonstrated his professional capabilities.

Ron is a dedicated and thorough worker who invests the time and effort required to deliver high-quality and efficient BI solutions. He has a lot of knowledge about the tools and technologies necessary for building advanced BI systems tailored to business needs. Additionally, Ron has the ability to work swiftly and efficiently under pressure, making him a valuable asset to any team.

Ron successfully implemented a BI system in our organization, using Tableau software and created an ETL process using complex SQL queries.

Ron is a pleasant and easygoing person to work with. He maintains good relationships with all team members and contributes to a positive work environment.

I am confident that Ron can bring significant value to your team and be a valuable addition to the company. I highly recommend him and wish him continued success in all his future endeavors.

Best Regards,

Efrat